What's Happening at the Preschool

The preschool is working on parent education as a goal area. This goal includes preschool readiness skills such as executive functioning, problem solving, self help and independence, and interpersonal skills. Each month a parent education item is added to the preschool newsletter. We have also partnered with Parents as Teachers to support our upcoming preschoolers. Finally, the district will host a spring parent education night to partner with families on various topics to support student pre-academics, and SEL skills. We will then survey our families at the end of the school year to determine the greatest areas of need to support them with early childhood development.

In the month of February students will have a guest speaker join us at the preschool to talk about early dental hygiene and each student will be sent home with a hygiene tool. February is also a good time to increase our awareness of kindness, empathy, and friendships with our youngest learners. As we work on this year round, this will be another explicit dose of learning through direct instruction to

BOE Goal 1: Communication

The preschool uses various modes to communicate with families. For the first time this year, Preschool parents were able to enroll online and provide accurate data to help us more effectively communicate with them. Our teachers all use Seesaw as a classroom communication tool. I also send out a monthly newsletter to families with updates and announcements. Lastly, we created a new SAC Preschool Facebook Page to connect and showcase students and preschool activities. We are definitely are improving in this goal area. As a district we will survey families at the end of the year for more feedback. All of these action steps help us support meeting our goals to effectively communicate with our community.
